Pugsley Medal Nomination Questions

One of the most prestigious awards given in parks and conservation is the Honorable Cornelius Pugsley Medal. You are encouraged to nominate a professional, public official, park advocate, educator or others who have made a lasting and positive impact in this industry for this highly-esteemed medal at the national, regional, state or local community level. The nominator or nominee does not need to be an Academy member.

Pugsley Medal recipients are likely to have made contributions at multiple levels of government (national, regional, state, or local community). Contributions at each level are considered equally meritorious; however, emphasis is placed on those whose contributions are at multiple levels. The award recognizes achievements/accomplishments, not longevity and/or effort; it recognizes a life or career-long record of accomplishments. It is not given for a "one-time" achievement.

Your nominee must be living at the time of nomination and must be a U.S. citizen. Nominee's personal and/or professional record shall not have unverified or verified allegations that would tarnish the reputation of the Honorable Cornelius Amory Pugsley Medal. And a nominee may only be considered twice within a five-year period. The Pugsley Medal will be awarded at the Academy's annual awards banquet or virtually.
